

2 DIVISIONS PLAN 15 MILE HIKE; 20,000 GUARDSMEN WILL MARCH

Details of Big Outing to Fort Selden About El Paso, Announced Wednesday—15 Regiments, Including Michigan, South Carolina, Kentucky, Mass. and Mich. Troops, to Start on Sunday.

TWO divisions of national guardsmen, the Tenth and the Eleventh, will start on a 15 day hike Sunday that will equal in magnitude the march through the streets of El Paso last Thursday.

According to details given out Wednesday noon by Maj. H. E. Ely, assistant chief of staff at the 13th Paso military district, the line of march will extend to old Fort Selden, New Mexico, 63 miles north of El Paso and not to the Mesquero reservation, as previously announced.

15 Regiments in Line. Five Ohio, three Kentucky, three Massachusetts, two Michigan and two South Carolina regiments—15 in all—will take part in the hike. No regular troops will participate. One Ohio regiment will be left behind to guard the small outlying stations near El Paso.

Besides the soldiers, the procession will contain 6,000 animals and 200 motor trucks. At least part of the water will be supplied by rail. All the provisions will be shipped from here.

Procession 15 Miles Long. The line of all the units, including the truck trains, will be about 15 miles long. The length of Thursday's parade, according to figures given out Wednesday by Col. W. E. Martin, chief of staff, was 14.50 miles.

Artillery, cavalry, engineers, signal corps, ambulance companies and hospital trains will participate in the hike. There will also be machine gun companies, wagon trains and truck trains.

First of its Kind. It is said that no hike of this kind was ever before made by United States troops. The soldiers will be under the command of Brig. Gen. Chas. P. Morton, commander of the Tenth division.

It is believed that the hike will be a success. The troops are in good condition and the weather is favorable.

SLAIN BY BANDITS IS MUTILATED

Body of Fifth Cavalryman is Found Near El Valle, After Saloon Brawl.

From Gen. J. J. Pershing's field headquarters in Mexico reports were received here Tuesday evening that the badly mutilated body of an American soldier was found near El Valle Monday.

It is believed that the body was that of an American trooper of the Fifth Cavalry who was killed in a saloon brawl at El Valle last Friday night and who was missing when the seven other troopers reached the field base at El Valle following an encounter between Carranza and the American troops during which a Carranza sergeant is said to have been killed.

One of the troopers is said to have reported that he saw a wounded American being carried away by Mexicans following the saloon brawl. The finding of the American's body is said to have cast a deep gloom over the camp of the punitive expedition.

Two Killed, Two Wounded. San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 27.—Gen. Pershing, in a dispatch received at southern headquarters here Tuesday night, tells of a shooting at El Valle, previously mentioned in press dispatches. He says that two American troopers of the Fifth Cavalry got past their guard and went into El Valle against orders. A saloon brawl took place in which one Mexican and one American were killed and one Mexican and one American wounded.

It is believed here that the body found near El Valle is that of the dead American trooper. Pershing attached no importance to the incident.

settled country around Ojinaga, opposite Pecos, has been warned to watch for a Villista band recently reported moving in that direction from Sierra Mojada, Coahuila. This group is reported to be a band of 100 men, recently captured and looted Sierra Mojada, after burning the plant of a mercurial mine, an American owned property. No information regarding this attack has reached Juarez, according to military officials here.

Durango Not Captured. Rumors that Durango City, capital of the state of Coahuila, had been occupied by Villistas were emphatically denied at Juarez military headquarters Wednesday. Telegrams communicating with the capital city in that state, it is asserted, and no bandits have approached the city.

THIS KENTUCKIAN LIKES MILITARY LIFE AT EL PASO

James Herndon, a member of the Kentucky national guard on duty at El Paso, writing recently to his home in Georgetown, Ky., sends some interesting comments on El Paso, indicating that the Kentuckians here pleased with their stay on the border. In part, his letter as published in the Georgetown Times, follows:

"We are located at Fort Bliss, Texas, five miles from El Paso on the main line of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad, and we have interurban communication with the city."

"We came down at the right time of the year, as it is getting colder all the time and there is no suffering from heat. We reached here in the night. Next day we worked hard getting tents up, and the day after cleaned off camp and hauled sand down for a camp ground. Fortunately, all necessary arrangements as to water had been provided for."

"The troops extend 10 miles from Tolin to El Paso, and consist of cavalry, machine guns, infantry, armored trucks and artillery. There are 82,000 militiamen here besides the regulars, which brings the total up to nearly 100,000. The Pennsylvania troops alone consume 15,000 pounds of bread a day, allowing each man a pound a day. The regimental streets run north and south and the company streets east and west, and they look so much alike that there are so many of them that it is a hard matter to find your way when you go out for a ride."

"Our camp is in fine condition. We have plenty of ice and good food. The officers are eating with us now and we hope they keep on doing so. The food is very hot in the day time but one doesn't perspire on account of the breeze. The nights are cool."

"In the troops are several American football players, and there are 1200 Harvard men in the artillery alone."

"Capt. Morrison asked on the way to go on a mountain climb on Sunday. We started at 8 a. m. and didn't get back till 4:30. We could see El Paso, and the Rio Grande if it were not for the size of the Elkhorn from where we were."

"Gen. Bell, a Kentuckian, is the main general here, so everything is everything, and you know just when you are going to be called upon. We drill from 7 till 10 in the morning and from three to four in the afternoon."

"They had a bull fight in Juarez today, and if we stay here long, I shall want a suit of citizen's clothes so that I can go over. Soldiers are not allowed to go over there in their uniforms."

"I am feeling fine and do not need a thing."

WIFE OF PANCHE VILLA RETURNING TO EL PASO

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 27.—Hipolito Villa admitted here Tuesday night that he had come here to meet his wife and infant son, returning from Havana, Cuba, together with the wife of Francisco Villa, Mrs. Luz Corral de Villa, and Villa's sister, Martina de Villa.

Hipolito Villa admitted also that he had direct information that his brother, Francisco Villa, the Mexican bandit, is alive and quite active. He would not say that he knew anything of Francisco's recent movements and declared positively that he knew nothing of his future plans in Mexico except that he reads from the press dispatches.

Department of Justice officials here are watching incoming trains from San Antonio for Mrs. Luz Corral de Villa, who claims to be the wife of Francisco Villa. Mrs. Villa went to Havana from El Paso soon after Villa took the field as a bandit.

Mrs. Juana Torres de Villa, who also claims to be Francisco Villa's wife, was deported to Juarez from here soon after the Carrizal clash on June 21.

ARMY LEAGUES DEFEAT COLLEGIATES

Teams Pile Up Total of 16 Errors; 34th Infantry Beats Artillery.

BY TOM CLEMENTS.

A single nine inning game filled the Army League program on Tuesday. The 34th infantry defeated the Fifth Field artillery, 8 to 5. The game was a dramatic affair, and was remarkable only for the number of errors made. The pitching of Joe Lucas for the Infantry was fair and a great improvement over that of the last game, but still lacking. In the first he was rather weak, but he got better as the game went on, and in the last few innings he did most of the work.

Neither pitcher was supported as well as he should have been, and so poor as it was, it was mostly a pitchers' battle. W. Kane, catcher for the Artillery, was the principal part of the team, and did the most work for them, being one of the three men who did not make any errors.

The Score:

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Infantry	9	8	10	10	5	0
Artillery	9	5	7	10	5	1

Total:

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Infantry	9	8	10	10	5	0
Artillery	9	5	7	10	5	1

Summary:

Infantry: 8 runs, 10 hits, 10 errors. Artillery: 5 runs, 7 hits, 1 error.

SUPPLY TRAINS STICK IN THE SAND; PEN. MEN WITHOUT ANY FOOD

Buy Out Anthony Stores, Yet Have Not Enough for Night Meal—When Wagons Are Found, Food is Cooked at Midnight—Late Departure from Anthony Today Over the Pass to Newman—Penn. Regiments.

BY R. R. CADDLE.

ANTHONY, N. M., Sept. 27.—(By wire to El Paso.)—After being lost for hours among the sand dunes of New Mexico between White Sulphur and Anthony, the wagon and motor truck trains of the Pennsylvania national guard were found misrouted five miles east of Anthony, shortly before midnight last night by scouts dispatched from camp by Maj. Charles M. Clement. The wagons and trucks were stuck in the deep sand and, when darkness fell, became lost and were escorted into camp by the scouts sent to look for them.

As a result of the wagons and trucks, which carried the food, ice, forage and fuel for the expedition, becoming lost, practically the entire army of 13,000 men and more than 2500 horses and mules were without food and little water last night. The soldiers had enough to have money with them descended like hungry wolves on the stores of Anthony and within a few minutes every emergency had exhausted the supply of canned goods, bread, cheese and other staples. They shared their scant meal with their comrades but thousands of the men did not have a thing to eat until after midnight, when the wagons and trucks reached here and Gen. Clement had a hurried lunch cooked for them.

A Swim Delays Supply Train. Col. Fred Pusey, quartermaster, appointed Capt. John Watson to command the wagon and motor truck train. The train was escorted by a detachment from the First Pennsylvania cavalry commanded by Lieut. Col. Samuel Gleaves. The cavalry commander allowed his men to swim in the river with their horses during the early afternoon. This held up the wagon and motor truck train, and when they left the river for the trip across the desert, it was late and the wagons became stuck. Darkness fell and the train became lost.

When the train reached Anthony, Gen. Clement ordered every water wagon to proceed to the railroad, where the empty tanks were filled with water and hurried to the half finished mess cooking in the town. There was great confusion throughout the night in the camp. The water tanks and route was illuminated by the lights of automobiles which frantically searched for the mules as they attempted to bolt.

Camp Broken Late. As a result of the delay and the wet and cold condition of the men, Gen. Clement did not order camp broken this morning until 10 o'clock. Then the ascent across the gap between the picturesque Franklin and Organ mountains was started, through Anthony pass. It was through this pass that the pioneers who shared the trail to the Pacific crossed in caravans in the long ago. The 49's who made a rush to California during the gold strike also crossed the range at this point. It was also a favorite haunt of early day outlaws. Here they watched the stage coach and pony express pass and descended on them to loot. Gen. Pershing, the notorious Apache chief, crossed the pass when he burned the villages along the Mexican frontier.

Like a Mighty Serpent. The 13,000 men resembled a mighty serpent as they wound their way up the steep pass. Along the dangerous crevices it became necessary to hitch eight mules to a wagon to pull them across it. It will be late this evening when the division reaches its camping ground on the east side. The infantry will encamp at the foot of the mountains or at Hitt's ranch. The cavalry and artillery will try to reach Newman, N. M.

The division will start from Newman Thursday morning en route to Camp Stewart, expecting to arrive at their quarters by Thursday night.

May Delay Return Home. It became known here today that the three Pennsylvania regiments recently ordered home by Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston may remain at Camp Stewart for an indefinite period with the remainder of the division. The order to entrain home is expected to be curtailed, according to an officer with the division, who received a wire to this effect.
